

Kristoff has been spending a lot of time with Sven the reindeer recently and hasn't made much time for any of his other friends. Anna, Elsa and Olaf decide to go ice skating and wonder whether they should invite him. He has turned down a few invitations recently. Perhaps he no longer wants to be friends. What should they do?

Anna is figure skating and trying to learn how to do a new jump but she is finding it really hard and keeps getting frustrated and angry with herself for not being able to do it. Elsa, Olaf and Kristoff see her getting into a rage. What should they do?

Kristoff plans a surprise party for Anna's birthday. He gets lots of people together to throw a fantastic event. On the day, Anna turns up and everyone jumps out to greet her. They expect her to love the surprise but she looks horrified and runs away. Her friends are worried and want to know what is wrong. What should they do?

Olaf has just been given a new sleigh and can't wait to show everyone, so he invites his friends around. Everyone has a go, getting more and more excited, until Anna and Kristoff argue over whose turn it is to go next. They both grab the sleigh, and it breaks in half! Olaf is very upset to see his new possession damaged. What should they do?

Olaf is not his usual happy, excited and talkative self. There seems to be something on his mind, but he hasn't told anybody what is wrong. Elsa, Anna and Kristoff discuss what might be the problem and what they could do to make things better. They all have different ideas. What should they do?

Anna has lost her diary. It is a special book that means a lot to her. She is devastated. Elsa comes across the diary as she is walking through the castle. To find out who the book belongs to, she opens it and looks for a clue. Anna sees this, approaches Elsa and snatches the diary from her. She is furious that Elsa has read her private diary. Now the sisters aren't speaking, and their friends are worried. What should they do?

Elsa has been invited to the annual winter dance but she is afraid her powers (that she freezes everything she touches) will get in the way. Anna, Olaf and Kristoff want her to come and she doesn't want to disappoint them, but she feels like she can't tell anyone about her powers. What should she do?

 Kristoff has just won a prize for creating the best ice sculpture in town! Anna, Elsa and Olaf all entered the competition too, and were disappointed not to win, but were pleased for Kristoff. However, since he won, he hasn't stopped boasting! In fact, he's so wrapped up that he hasn't noticed that Anna, Elsa and Olaf seem to be a bit upset. What should they do?

Olaf is playing one of his favourite games, curling. He loves this game, and wants all his friends to like it too. But there's a problem. He's seen someone cheat. Olaf doesn't want to be the one to spoil the fun, but he doesn't want the game to be unfair. His friends can see he is upset. What should they do?

Anna loves sandwiches and wants to spend all day making them. She tries to get her friends involved in her sandwich making marathon. Unfortunately, they all say they are busy. Anna is clearly very upset. What should they do?

As Queen of Arendelle, Elsa is facing a difficult decision for her Kingdom. She is under a lot of pressure and her people are all waiting for an answer. Elsa is spending a lot of time locked alone in her chambers and her friends are worried about her. What should they do?

Elsa overhears someone making an unkind comment about one of her friends. She is with Olaf, Anna and Kristoff but they don't hear. She is upset by what she hears and tells them what has happened. What should they do?